

What to do if a photovoltaic panel manufacturer goes bankrupt

If your solar company installed third-party equipment (like panels and inverters), reach out to the manufacturers directly. Many manufacturers have their own warranty programs that remain valid even if the ...

Know what kind of bankruptcy the company is in, watch your mail, call the installer first for warranty issues, find another servicer and keep track of your loan.

The safest way to prevent being left without a warranty from a bankrupt solar manufacturer is to buy your panels from a warranty-insuring manufacturer. A warranty-insuring manufacturer commits their ...

Discover what to do if your solar company goes out of business. Learn the reasons behind solar company closures, impacts on solar system owners, and how to safeguard your investment.

Understanding what happens when your solar company goes bankrupt is the first step to protecting your investment. This guide will clarify your rights and responsibilities regarding your loan, your ...

While panel and inverter manufacturer warranties may still apply, installer labor warranties often become void, leaving you to cover unexpected repair costs. Solar homeowners must know who to call to ...

Last year, we saw a number of high-profile solar companies shut their doors, including SunPower filing for bankruptcy. Many factors can drive a company to go out of business, and depending on your situation, you ...

Contact the manufacturer of your solar panels or system components for warranty support. Seek alternative local contractors who might take over service agreements.

Some companies were unable to cope with the new challenges and had to make the difficult decision to shut down their business. Consequently, the potential new clients became more cautious when ...

If your solar company filed bankruptcy, your urgent question is: "What happens if my solar company goes out of business?" When an installer closes, customers immediately lose support for crucial ...

The safest way to prevent being left without a warranty from a ...

Discover what to do if your solar company goes out of business. ...

What to do if a photovoltaic panel manufacturer goes bankrupt

Web: <https://www.black-hat.co.za>